Senator Yates

AN [illegible]

WASHINGTON April 21

I have seen various articles in [illegible] paper reflecting upon my conduct. Their criticisms are [illegible] just as I deserved. Such exaggerations [illegible] as they contain reen[illegible] I am [illegible] will toward me [illegible] justifiable anxiety that [illegible] State shall be properly represented in the [illegible] Senate.

I [illegible] that I have been absent from the impeachment trial but a small portion of the time. [illegible] fifty days ago [illegible] I was absent from [illegible] of those fifty days I was present [illegible] voted on [illegible] I could show that I have not been a constant drinker [illegible] I could show that I have never appeared in the Senate except when sober, and that notwithstanding occasional departures since I have been in the Senate I have for most of the time performed my duty, but I waive all mere technical advantages which I might have in a controversy as to my conduct.

I write you not to justify but to waive all defence and frankly confess to you the weakness which at times has borne me down and which was calculated to bring discredit upon my State and myself. It is my nature to be frank and especially [illegible] to you who have showered favors and honors upon me to be so now. I will not attempt justification or excuse, especially when I have often publicly said that men holding public trusts should be sober men.

During twenty-seven years of political service, with the exception of [illegible] years when I totally abstained, I have [illegible] yielded to temptation and as often have suffered the pangs of unutterable remorse. I can say that in a certain sense my sin has been my punishment. [illegible] your respect might seem punishment enough, but you can scarcely imagine how a proud man feels when he has [illegible] all that render his nature noble, and when it would seem that Heaven had withdrawn its favor from him [illegible] of self-inflicted wrongs.

It has been said with what seems to me unnecessary cruelty: It is perfectly useless to exact new pledges from one who has broken so many old ones. To this allow me to reply that [illegible] I will [illegible] your confidence not by pledges but by [illegible] conduct [illegible] correct. I comprehend the situation perfectly. The happiness of my family, the respect and confidence of my friends, the success of my party, which [illegible] the triumph of liberty and good government, the honor of my State, the good opinion of mankind, my own life and [illegible] future [illegible] startling [illegible] duty all these have been seriously considered.

To those whose affection for me has hitherto survived the shock of repeated disappointments, I say [illegible] accept it as a just punishment and shall not murmur. Those who find in my misfortunes occasion to congratulate themselves upon the verification of their prophecies [illegible] and a justification for having opposed me [illegible] realize the wish which fathered the thoughts. As to my enemies and those who desire my ruin and the consequent resignation in order to the elevation of some one else to the place which I hold at your hands, and I hope they are few, they have my pity for the ignobleness of their purpose and [illegible] defiance of their schemes.

But to you, fellow citizens, I do apologize without reserve or defence. I do not ask the Divine ruling in one of the oldest recorded trials, viz: Let him that is without sin cast the first stone. I make no comparison between myself and other men in the country who drink more than I [illegible] have done and with less disturbance of their [illegible] organization than I have. I do not wish to [illegible] attitude of making a special plea in my own behalf.

To err is human, to forgive is divine. [illegible] crave only such an exercise of the divine attribute as the enlightened judgment of my fellow citizens can permit them to vouchsafe [illegible]. I can truthfully aver that no man has a keener appreciation of duty, a livelier pride, [illegible] or a deeper sense of gratitude towards those who have honored him than I have. I was in my humble way true to the country during the late rebellious struggle and throughout a long public life against bitter persecutions and in fearful minorities, notwithstanding all my faults I have constantly, unwaveringly and always been true to the Republican party and to the principles of human freedom. I am not and have never been the advocate of drinking, for though alcohol may be useful as a medicine and in some other respects, yet it kills more than it cures and is much more productive of misery than of benefit to mankind. And were it in my power I would at one fell swoop blot it from the face of the earth and obliterate the knowledge of making it from the breast of mankind.

I am aware that I have many friends who will disprove perhaps denounce the seeming humiliation of writing this letter as they did my Congressional temperance speech a year ago. While I regret their condemnation I must insist it is always manly to confess one's errors. I am not [illegible] I have never [illegible] any post of duty assigned me, and I shall not leave my present one before the expiration of my term while a single stain rests upon my honor as a Senator. Such an act would be cowardly, disgraceful to you and myself, a reproach to my children who depend upon me for defence of their good name—an act which can only be compared to suicide. Besides I feel that I have not yet accomplished all that I owe my State and am determined to cancel a part of the debt.

Notwithstanding your justifiable distrust [illegible] my State and my high duty I shall not despair, but look forward to an [illegible] future.

[illegible] I have written with a clear [illegible] of the [illegible] misconception [illegible] It is always manly and noble to [illegible] I have tried to do both. Your obliged servant,
RICHARD YATES

Various reasons are assigned for the break in the mining share market yesterday. As usual the bear influence is regarded by many as the chief cause for the general and sudden collapse. Others attribute the decline to the falling off in the number of those who have been in the habit of investing in these securities. It is asserted that men of moderate means are not so willing to buy stocks as they were two or three months ago. The mining share market exhibits considerable [illegible]. Yesterday morning under sales [illegible] prices fell off wonderfully. In the afternoon there was a partial improvement, with closing prices at the [illegible] many cases are substantially the same as before the break.

Extraordinary Letter from the Pope

The Paris [illegible] publishes the following strange letter said to have been addressed by the Pope to the Emperor of Austria, but the genuineness of which is questioned by many persons in France:

ROME March 23 1868

My beloved Son and August Apostolic Majesty: If the title (Apostolic) which I give you and which has been accorded you by the Almighty and by the representatives of the Holy Roman See does not awake in your heart the sentiments which hitherto have distinguished you among all other monarchs, and which your badly inspired Senators have known how not to extinguish in you, but to weaken, I, as chief of the great and holy Christian association, believe myself obliged to employ all the means at my disposal as Vicar of Christ to bring you back to your duty. I consider that case the more necessary now that I know that all your august family and yourself, O Majesty, have in reality [illegible] disdain for these concessions which every Christian will reprove. You, O Majesty, have believed in the midst of the circumstances occurring that your duty required you to conform to the exigencies of modern demands, and instead of grasping with a hand of iron the reins of government in your empire, you have allowed them to float inert. And now you can no longer repress the factions which at this moment no longer pray as they ought to do, but menace your Majesty. Content these profane desires, since you think yourself obliged to bow to the will of savage men, losing at the same time the respect you owe to the will of God! Destroy, thanks to the new laws which you are preparing to sanction, the religious sentiments and the confidence of the world by sapping in that way the principal base of a regular State—namely morality—and by drawing down on yourself the celestial wrath as well as your own and that of all good and true Christians. You, sire, in the desire you have to retain your crown, deny the Almighty, who accorded it to you, in order to satisfy your rebellious subjects. You expose your august children to the thunderbolts of heaven, and you do not reflect, sire, that the means to content an irritated people is not to awaken in them the determination to [illegible]. You will therefore remain in the face of a menacing population without being sustained by a pure conscience and without the support of the Church. You have rejected the prayers of your august family and of able men [illegible] to follow the counsels of your present Ministers, and you have turned a deaf ear to the paternal advice which my nuncio at Vienna has given you on my part. In spite of all this I once more implore you in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost to remember the word Apostolic which distinguishes your title, to follow the example of the holy Apostles who shed their [illegible] for religion [illegible] the ambition [illegible] every Christian, and which was [illegible] your ancestor of Hapsburg [illegible] only to exalt but [illegible] defend the sacred faith which procures eternal happiness. Do not think only of yourself, sire. Cast also a glance on your numerous family on your consort, who is awaiting a painful but happy event; reflect, sire, that all [illegible] the responsibility of the disasters which may arise from your present course of action. Finally, think of [illegible] of the outrages [illegible] and I am persuaded [illegible] change the benediction [illegible] In the mean time I [illegible] address the most ardent prayer [illegible] Almighty [illegible] and I bless [illegible] paternally.

The Great Crater of Mauna Loa.

The Island of Hawaii, on which the [illegible] mountain of the Sandwich Islands is situated, is the largest and easternmost of the group, containing about 4,000 square miles, and in [illegible] had 24 452 inhabitants. On the west coast the beach is narrow and dry, and a striking by a steep barren mountain. On the other coasts [illegible] plateau which occupied the whole central portion of the island, slopes to the sea, and its valleys are fertile. From the central peaks rise three volcanic peaks, all active, one of which is Mauna Loa, the peak whose late grand eruption creates such interest. The new American Cyclopedia says Mauna Loa is situated a little south of the central part of Hawaii, forty miles from the coast. Its hight, as ascertained by Lieut. Wilkes of the United States exploring expedition is 13 758 feet. From the sea it presents the appearance of a smooth, regular hill of no great elevation clad with forests part way up its sides and rounded off at the top like a dome. It has been built up by the accretions buried from the bowels of the earth by volcanic agency (to which indeed the whole island owes its origin), but unlike many other volcanoes it has no cone of ashes. Its craters are numerous, occurring on the summit and on the sides and new ones are frequently opening. The terminal crater, called by the natives Moku a weo weo, is about 13,000 feet in length and 8 000 in width. Its west bank [illegible] feet in depth and its east bank 470 feet. The bottom was reached by Wilkes, who describes it as traversed by ridges from ten to fifteen feet in hight, alternating with deep chasms, smooth beds of hardened lava, and fissures from which issue clouds of smoke and steam. A short distance to the north of it is the smaller crater of [illegible] and when Lieut. Wilkes was there (December 1840) there were two others on the summit. The whole top of the mountain is one expanse of lava which has been thrown out in a fluid state and lies like a smooth [illegible] in vast beds of clinkers spread over an area of miles and occasionally raised from ten to twenty feet above the surrounding surface. There is no [illegible] rock nor sand. On the southeast side of the mountain is a pit crater 38 feet deep and 200 feet in diameter, in which Dr Judd, who accompanied Lieut. Wilkes, was overtaken by a [illegible] and narrowly escaped death, though not without a few burns. In 12 minutes from the first outbreak the pit was full of molten lava. On the same side of the mountain, at an elevation of 4 104 feet above the sea, is the great crater of Kilauea, which is three and a half miles long and two and a half miles wide, and 1,044 feet deep. A black ledge of hardened lava, from 600 to 2,[illegible] feet in width, surrounds it at a depth of 600 feet, and the bottom is occupied by a surging lake of liquid fire, over which hangs a cloud silvery by day and glowing red by night. [illegible] escape from numerous apertures, and even in times when the fires are comparatively at rest, masses of red hot matter are every now and then cast up to the height of 60 or 70 feet. During Lieut Wilkes' visit the lake overflowed, and in one night discharged about 15 000,000 cubic feet of lava, while the discharge from the small pit, which he called Judd's lake, was [illegible] amount in a day to 200,000 000 cubic feet. Kilauea was long held in awe by the natives as the abode of the goddess Pele, and the [illegible] threads of hardened lava spray which are collected around it are called by them "Pele's hair." During the last four or five years Mauna Loa has been unusually active. A violent eruption occurred in 1855, lasting thirteen months, and sending its streams of lava over an area estimated at 300 square miles. Another began January 23 1859. Three new craters were opened in the side of the mountain, the highest being about 10 000 feet above the sea. The two lower were the scenes of the most violent action. They are about a mile apart, and were described by an observer as two [illegible] of pumice and lava, each about 150 feet high, from the lower one, which was nearly 7,000 feet in diameter, rose a column of liquid lava from 200 to 500 feet high. From this place the fiery torrents found its way by a subterranean passage to an outlet about half a mile distant, where it bubbled up in a pool a few rods wide, and poured in a cataract, at a white heat, over a precipice of 40 feet. It spread over the whole lower slope of the mountain in a network of streams, and passing around the north side reached the sea in five days, destroying a fishing village in its way. The meeting of the lava and the waves is described as one of the most terrific sights ever witnessed. In November the flow still continued, the lava still reaching the water, full 40 miles from the crater, was still at a light red heat, and moved with a velocity of two or three miles an hour. The stream in some places was five or six miles wide. Kilauea in the mean time continued comparatively quiet, but its fiery lake was gradually increasing in size and in November 1859 had risen to a level with the black ledge described by Wilkes. This rising of the lake has occurred before, as the structure of the ledge indeed shows, but it never runs over, its discharge always being effected by subterranean channels. Several shocks of earthquake accompanied the great eruption of 1859, two in February, one in July and two in November.

Among the documents now being classified in a fresh order at the Archives of France are the celebrated registers of the Bastile. These books are of three kinds. The first contained the name and quality of each prisoner, the number of his cell, and the list of his clothing and personal effects. The second contained an account of the expenses of each prisoner and was examined by the minister every three months. The third series consisted of large folios in seven columns, containing the name and history of each prisoner.

A HAPPY PEOPLE.—Among the two millions of people by whom Jeddo in Japan is inhabited there is not a beggar in the streets, not a man unable to read, not a poor man, not a drunkard, not a ruffian. The women are beautiful, the men are [illegible] and energetic, there is not a trouble about fashions, education is universal, books are plentiful though there are no newspapers, life is simple and easy, marriage is universal and the children go naked.

To the Public.

FROM this date the undersigned retires from the Life Insurance business. This step is taken in view of [illegible] that while the companies are all on a sound [illegible] basis and investments of this kind [illegible] provident and beneficial in relieving the burthens and [illegible] of widowhood and orphanage—while I view Life Insurance as a proof of high moral sociality in all communities where practiced—the [illegible] for business is [illegible] by agents of some companies [illegible] fair and honest competition, some of them being ignorant of the working of the company they represent as well as of the business in general, and thus [illegible] the merits of their company by honest facts [illegible] to slander and personal abuse of those more successful in procuring business than themselves.

The time was when Agents of rival Companies met together in friendship as a Board of Life Underwriters [illegible] consulted upon matters of mutual interest and advantage. But that day is past on the Pacific Coast. It has given place to a cut throat style of competition. Seeing [illegible] I have pursued a different course in procuring [illegible] adopt the new mode or retire from the [illegible]. I choose the latter.

Thanking [illegible] success in the business to those contemplating Life Insurance I heartily recommend [illegible] the Manhattan of New York. It is a [illegible] unsurpassed with [illegible] company and the General Agents Messrs Landers & Co. as well as the Agent for Oregon C P Ferry Esq, are [illegible] of the highest confidence.

[illegible] those who have been in the habit of slandering [illegible] may find comfort in nursing their [illegible] that they will realize the effect of the [illegible] the general distrust of their own [illegible] agents. Such [illegible] to be the effect of [illegible] allowed and such I predict will be the result.

The Chicago Convention

To-day, Wednesday, May 20, at 12 M., the Union Republican National Convention assembles at Chicago. The official call says:

"Each State in the United States is authorized to be represented in said Convention by a number of delegates equal to twice the number of Senators and Representatives to which each State is entitled in the National Congress. We invite the co-operation of all citizens who rejoice that our great civil war has happily terminated in the discomfiture of rebellion; who would hold fast the unity and integrity of the Republic, and maintain its paramount right to defend to the utmost its own existence, whether imperiled by secret conspiracy or armed force; of all friends of an economical administration of the public expenditure, of the complete extirpation of the principles and policy of slavery, and of the speedy reorganization of those States whose Governments were destroyed by the rebellion, and their permanent restoration to their proper practical relations with the United States in accordance with the true principles of a republican government."

All the 21 [illegible] and Territories are represented; the Convention will consist of 652 members, the largest body of the kind ever [illegible]

The call is made in the liberal spirit which [illegible] the great Union Republican [illegible] no object which all citizens should not desire to secure. It prescribes no difficult or arbitrary tests. It "invites the co-operation" of all men who are true to the Union, to justice and to the principles of republican government. It states the objects which the great national party of freedom would establish and maintain. The difference between this party and the opposing organization [illegible] appears in this official manifesto. The "Democracy" renew their pledge of [illegible] to the "time honored principles," [illegible] James Buchanan, [illegible] John Whiteaker, J. S Smith, and all [illegible] secrets held and proclaimed in 1861 [illegible] the Union party now and always maintain the "paramount right of the Republic to defend to the utmost its own existence" [illegible] of disintegration and civil war follow the application of so-called "Democratic" principles. The principles of the Union Republican party are those of national unity, of civil order, of governmental authority, [illegible] and justice to all men, and of [illegible] to every form of national [illegible] and every species of oppression [illegible] who are amenable to [illegible] are denied the protection of human laws.

That the Convention will unanimously tender the nomination to General Grant there can be no doubt. To make him the candidate for the first office he has only to signify his [illegible]. It is every way fit that he should be the standard-bearer. During the rebellion he was the representative of the armed [illegible] of the people striking for the [illegible] of the Republic. At this time, when a [illegible] organization is contending for the [illegible] with a purpose of reversing all the [illegible] of the war, it is fit that General Grant should be called on as the leader of the party which gained the victory, and which now desires to preserve what has been so hardly won. As to the Vice-President, almost every State has presented a different candidate for the office. [illegible] would combine more elements of [illegible] any other man who could be [illegible]. There is not a better representative of the [illegible] people living. He is not a local [illegible] and no section can claim him. But whoever the Convention may nominate for the second place, we may be sure that he will be a safe and able man. This time the people will not take any chances of being [illegible]. The only way to make the life of a Republican President secure is to put a [illegible] in the office of Vice President.

[illegible] of Salem must be awarded the [illegible] of being a prophet. A short time ago Beriah [illegible] of having published an article [illegible] the San Francisco [illegible] that we were not [illegible]. On Monday last Clarke published a note in the [illegible] denouncing the statement a false hood and [illegible] "I never wrote a word on [illegible] though I never doubted the hand of Providence in the occurrence. I would ask if it is [illegible] with another [illegible]" [illegible] coincidence "another [illegible] and within twenty-four hours." No doubt this coincidence will furnish Beriah with [illegible] for a two-column "personal explanation," headed "A Conspiracy to take Our Life!"

The Blue Mountain Times learns that a fatal affray occurred at Clark's creek, in Baker county, on the [illegible]. The circumstances in brief are these: John Sherwood had been appointed by [illegible] of a water claim in dispute, and while in charge of his duty, assisted by three or four men was fired upon by a gang of Chinamen, who were barricaded in a log house. The volley consisted of about 50 shots and at a distance of only about fifty feet. No damage was done, and Mr. Sherwood jumped into a bunch of willows and returned their fire with his Henry rifle. He finally drove them from their strong hold, killing two and severely wounding a third. H. L. Thomas and H. J. Meacham, of this place, were witnesses of a portion of the fight.

Says the San Francisco Times: The Democratic organs of the baser sort are engaged in an attempt to prove that Grant is a habitual drunkard, and that he is no soldier. They have an up hill task. [illegible] louder than words; and Grant has accomplished what nobody but a great soldier could do. As George Alfred Townsend says, "President or not, this great landscape of the new world is only a pocket map of his victories. Causes and wherefores are played out, he won!"

Democratic financiering is well illustrated by the state of things in Ada county, (Boise City) Idaho. The debt of the county is $94 719 19. The grand jury of the county reports that this large indebtedness is "owing to the incompetence and carelessness of county officials. As no accounts have been kept of the different funds, it is impossible to determine for what purposes the moneys of the county have been expended."

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON CITY

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, Monday April 27 1868

On Wednesday the Senate again met at 11 o'clock, to continue the impeachment trial. The Chief Justice stated that the first business in order was the consideration of the proposition offered, on Monday, by Senator Sumner, to allow the Managers and the counsel to file written or printed arguments, before the oral argument confined to one of the Managers and one of the counsel commenced. Amendments and substitutes in profusion were offered and voted upon. Finally after two hours spent in skirmishing over this subject an order was adopted by a vote of 21 yeas to 20 nays allowing as many of the Managers and of the President's counsel, as desire to do so, to file arguments, or address the Senate orally, the concluding oral argument to be made by one manager. Boutwell then rose and commenced reading his printed argument, and continued about three hours, when the Senate adjourned.

At 11 o'clock Thursday, the Senate reassembled and the Court was opened in the usual form. The galleries were crowded, as usual, and the demand for tickets continued long after they had been exhausted. General Sickles and Burnside (Governor of Rhode Island) Thomas Ewing and Judge Advocate General Holt, were on the floor of the Senate. Senator Grimes submitted an order that the hour of meeting of the Senate for the trial of the impeachment of the President, be changed from 11 to 12 o'clock, which, on objection of Senator Sumner, was laid over. Boutwell then renewed his address, and spoke about one hour and forty minutes. He reviewed the whole subject in a masterly manner, and held the undivided attention of the Senate and the galleries, from the beginning to the close, nearly five hours. Boutwell is not so eloquent as Bingham or Logan, but he speaks in a very plain and forcible manner and is always interesting. Logan filed his written argument, without occupying the time of the Senate in its delivery, and it goes into the printed proceedings of the trial. It fully sustains his reputation for eloquence, and is more moderate in tone than might have been expected from the well known fiery impetuosity of its author. On the conclusion of Boutwell's argument, Nelson rose and commenced his speech in defense of the President. He propounded a question or conundrum, "Who is Andrew Johnson?" and spent an hour or more in giving the origin and early history of the President. He then spent another hour in answering the question, "What has Andrew Johnson done?" After listening some three hours to this strange and most extraordinary harangue, which seemed to annoy the other members of the President's counsel quite as much as it amused some of the Senators, the Senate adjourned.

On Friday, the order changing the time of meeting from 11 to 12 o'clock was adopted. A little after 11 o'clock Nelson resumed his speech and continued about five hours, occupying the entire session. He spoke in the same strain as on the previous day. Nelson is said to be the only one of the counsel who agrees with the President in political sentiment, and he has certainly succeeded in making such a speech as the President would have made had he been speaking in his own defense. It may with propriety be considered Johnson's own speech, delivered by proxy. The argument (?) was a tissue of self contradictions. He would maintain for a while that the tenure of office law was unconstitutional, then assert that the removal of Stanton was in accordance with that law. He would then go off into a lengthy argument to show that Stanton never was removed, and follow it up by an argument to show that Stanton's removal was an act of duty on the part of the President. He occasionally quoted from Shakespeare, Milton, Pope and Byron. It was a political stump speech, such as Johnson has often delivered before a Tennessee audience.

The first business in order on Saturday, was the consideration of an order, offered by Senator Edmunds on Friday, to admit the official reporters to the Senate chamber when the Senate goes into secret session to consider the articles of impeachment, after the conclusion of the arguments. This was postponed. Senator Sumner offered two new rules, and also an order providing that the Senate shall vote upon the articles at noon the day after the close of the arguments. These went over on objection of Senator Johnson. Groesbeck then commenced his argument in defense of the President. He occupied the day, concluding a little after four o'clock, when the Senate adjourned. He did the best he could for his client, and succeeded in making an able defense, and a favorable impression on those who heard him.

To day the weather was fine, and the Senate galleries were densely crowded at 12 o'clock when the session commenced. The Chief Justice stated that the first business in order was on the motion of Senator Edmunds to admit the official reporters to the deliberations of the Senate upon the final conclusion after all the arguments had been made. Senator Williams moved an amendment that no Senator be allowed to speak longer than fifteen minutes or more than once during the deliberation. Senator Howard moved to amend so that no Senator be permitted to speak more than fifteen minutes on any one question, which was voted down—19 to 30. On motion of Senator Morton, the question was postponed until after the argument on both sides shall be concluded. Thaddeus Stevens then rose and commenced reading his argument, but his voice was so feeble that it could scarcely be heard in the galleries, and after reading some twenty minutes, he became so exhausted that he could not proceed. He handed it to Butler who read the remainder of the speech. Its delivery occupied about one hour, and it was one of the best arguments yet made. Mr. Williams then followed. His argument was also printed. He read about two hours, and then gave way for a motion to adjourn. His argument, as far as he has gone, is considered an able statement of the question. He will conclude tomorrow.

The President has withdrawn the name of Thos Ewing, Sr., who is a violent Copperhead and nominated Gen Schofield, a conservative Union man, for Secretary of War. This is a tub thrown to the whale—a movement of his counsel to influence the decision of the Senate, if possible, on the impeachment articles.

The medals and diplomas awarded to citizens of the United States at the Paris Exposition, are now on exhibition in the Capitol, in the old hall of the House of Representatives, where they attract a great deal of attention. They were sent by the French Government to the State Department, and are now in charge of an officer of that Department. After being exhibited a few days longer, they will be sent to the parties to whom they are awarded, in the various States of the Union. There are 95 bronze medals, 74 silver medals, 1 artists' medal, 16 gold medals, 3 grand gold prizes, about twice as large as gold medals, 4 Crosses of the Legion of Honor and one statuette. This comprises all the crosses, prizes and medals awarded to the United States, with two exceptions: one grand gold prize to the U. S. Sanitary Commission, which has been delivered to Dr. Bellows, one grand gold prize and diploma to Mr. Hughes, on printing telegraph, which were delivered to him in Paris. The highest prize is the Cross of the Legion of Honor; the second is the grand gold prize, and the third is the gold medal. Then comes the silver medal, and last the bronze medal. In many instances articles received "honorable mention," without any medal. Two hundred diplomas are suspended, three rows deep, on upright screens extending around the hall and one hundred more will be placed on exhibition in a few days, making about three hundred in all. These diplomas, if extended in a straight line, would reach over 700 feet. Chickering, for pianos, received a Cross of the Legion of Honor and a gold medal, and Steinway received a gold medal. McCormick, for invention of reaper, received a Cross of the Legion of Honor and a grand gold prize, and Wood, for improvements in reaper, received a Cross of the Legion of Honor, a gold medal and a statuette. Howe, for sewing machine, received a Cross of the Legion of Honor and a gold medal. Field, for telegraph, received a grand gold prize. Chapin for improvement in the working classes in factories—ventilation, etc.—a grand gold prize and 10 000 francs. The United States received more prizes, in proportion to the number of articles exhibited, than any other nation except France, and nearly as many as France.

Mr W. H. Rector, formerly a citizen of Oregon, and at present a resident of Oakland, Cal., where he has established a cotton factory, is in Washington, at present, on his way to Scotland, for the purpose of purchasing machinery for a bag factory to be erected in connection with his cotton factory.

Mr. Carr, owner in the overland stage line between Sacramento and Portland, is also here on business.

Punishment of Calumny

We cannot approve of the principle of resorting to personal violence as a mode of redress when one's character is assailed by a calumnious fanatic; but circumstances sometimes arise which, if they do not justify, at least greatly extenuate, such an act. Whether or not the act of Mr. McCormick in chastising his irresponsible calumniator shall find justification in the minds of all citizens, there can be but one opinion in regard to the foul act of his slanderous assailant by which it was provoked. The case was unusual and extraordinary. A man who has always borne a reputation for probity and honor, was assailed by a scurrilous libeller as a swindler and a thief—accused of defrauding the Church of which he is a member in good standing, out of a sum of money. The space of half a column was consumed in dilating upon this charge. The matter came to the notice of the person who stands at the head of the Catholic Church in this State, who at once addressed a short note, not exceeding ten lines in length, to the editor of the paper in which the charge had been made, pronouncing it untrue and without any foundation whatever. The publication of this notice was the least recompense which the offending party could have made. But this refutation was denied, and not a word was published as a retraction of the foul calumny. The person who had been so grossly injured, and who was denied the reparation he had a right to demand, as his only recourse, proceeded to administer personal chastisement to this calumniator. An irresponsible libeller who makes such attacks on private character should always look out for the consequences. Forbearance is a virtue, and violence should be deprecated. But all men will agree it is not a wholly unpardonable act to sometimes teach the calumniator that there should be a limit to his base assaults on private character.

MAC TAKES BERIAH'S ADVICE.—On the 2d of January last Beriah was talking in his paper of those editors whom he termed "irresponsible." He said: "If you 'snake-beat' them as such hounds only deserve, they will glory in it as an achievement by which they have won the notice of a gentleman. One is not allowed to kill the animals on account of the civil rights act, which recognizes them as men, and there is no other way in which they can be reached, for they are destitute of character, a sense of shame or pecuniary responsibility." Precisely so, and we doubt not it was a knowledge of these facts which sent Mac after Beriah. The "irresponsible" has had a chance to try the virtues of his own medicine.

The people want to know how the "Democratic" theory of a "white man's government" can be reconciled with the purpose of that party to have thirty three members in Congress on the basis of the Southern black population, while that population is allowed no rights or privileges in the Government. This is a point upon which their National Convention must enlighten the people. The Constitution, even as it now stands, does not harmonize with the principles of a "white man's government," inasmuch as negroes are now, to a certain extent, counted in making up the basis of representation.

The "Organ" not long ago stated that the Republicans had abandoned their party organization in Baker county. A correspondent writing from Baker City pronounces this statement, like most Democratic newspaper reports, a falsehood. "The Republicans of Baker," he writes, "are fully organized, and confident of electing their ticket." We are surprised that our correspondent should deem it worth while to pay any attention to a statement made by a person of such notorious inveracity as Beriah Brown.

Beriah's new martyrdom will, without doubt, furnish him with material for an endless number of endless "leaders." It comes just in the "nick of time," as the history of "our escape from a San Francisco mob" was becoming rather stale by repetition. The new theme will certainly last him until his expulsion from his present position,—an event which it is currently reported will not long be delayed.

A La Grande paper says: R. H. Mallory received a letter, a day or two since, from James Wardwell, who was reported killed near Camp Harney. The letter was dated at the Camp, April 27th, and says the Indians got away with their stock, but left what the Owyhee Avalanche calls "good Indians," 35 in number, on the ground. Not a white man was killed.

EVERY PERSON SHOULD CLOTHE themselves according to the weather. As the summer advances our citizens should not neglect to procure one of those handsome light-weight suits KOHN & FISHEL, No. 91 Front street have for sale. A glimpse at their goods will convince ladies as well as gents, that they are far superior to any other's in town and the prices unusually low.

MARRIED.

SIXTH INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION
OF THE
Mechanics' Institute,
SAN FRANCISCO
THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE MECHANics' Institute hereby give notice that the Sixth Industrial Exhibition of that Association will be held some time in August next, in a building to be erected for the purpose in Union Square in this city. Every preparation will be made to accommodate exhibitors and visitors with a view to make the Exhibition profitable, instructive and pleasant to all parties.
During the three years which have intervened since the holding of the last Exhibition in this city the manufacturing, mechanical, scientific and useful and ornamental arts have made unprecedented progress on this coast, and it is believed that the proposed Exhibition will exceed any other in value that has ever been held on the shores of the Pacific.
The plan of building to be erected, which has been adopted by the Board of Directors, it is believed will prove to be the best adapted, both for display and convenience of the public, of any building ever erected in the State. The building will be perfectly water tight, being covered with a shingle roof so that no damage from the elements can be anticipated.
All parties who are interested in any of the branches of Manufactures, Mechanics, or the Arts and Sciences are invited to exhibit in the proposed Exhibition, and to share in the publicity and consequent profit which always attends such enterprises. Suitable premiums will be offered and the specific date of opening the Exhibition will be published at some future time.
By order of the Board of Directors.

A CARD.
WHEN THE POPULATION OF SAN FRANCISCO increases so rapidly, how is it the number of deaths decrease? Simply because that excellent Tonic, "Lacour's Sarsapariphere Bitters" have been introduced.
Like the lighthouse to the mariner they are the guide to those who use them to outride the breakers of disease in the journey of life.
To them was awarded the FIRST PREMIUM at the late State Fair. The committee highly and especially recommended them for their medicinal qualities.
Their Emblem is a "Lighthouse."
Their Device: "Pro Bono Publico."

New York Gold Quotations

A SENSATION STORY NOT CORROBORATED.—The following sensation story was related to the local reporter of the Herald and published in that paper of the 9th inst:

"It is reported that Arthur Chapman formerly of this city met with a tragical and melancholy end. He had some difficulty with an Indian which he settled by killing the offender. Four of the Indian's friends seized Chapman and suspended him by the neck from the limb of a tree until they thought he was dead and, wishing to save their rope, they then let him down. Chapman, however, was not dead, but only had his animation suspended for a short time. He revived and went in pursuit of his would-have-been executioners. He caught one of them and made a bona fide hanging of him, and then he attempted to a more. He was pursued over taken, bound hand and foot and cast into a river, where he perished. This at least is the report."

We have not the least doubt that the story was printed exactly as related by the reporter's informant, but it was evidently a full sized hoax, made up to create a sensation, as not the least mention of any such occurrences has ever been made, then or since, by the Lewiston paper, nor by any of the papers of Eastern Oregon or Idaho, nor has any private intelligence of the sort been received from that quarter, other than the above. Such attempts may be excessively funny to the originators, but we submit that they are calculated to give needless and painful anxiety to the friends or family of the person concerned.

MATTERS AT WALLA WALLA.—The Walla Walla Statesman of the 15th says: "Our merchants inform us that trade so far, has been very good. Our streets continue crowded with teams and pack trains engaged in hauling freight. The farmers are putting in heavy crops, and in connection with the expected large demand for wheat to supply the [illegible] and China markets money will be plenty during the coming fall."

Of the fruit crop, the same paper says: "Further investigation shows that the damage to the fruit crop by frost is not as general as was supposed. In some localities the fruit has suffered heavily, but in others the damage is slight, so that we may yet have a fruit crop. Mr. Kitz, one of our largest fruit growers, informs us that his trees have escaped entirely. The owners of other large orchards report that their trees have suffered little or no damage, and that the fruit crop will do well. In some instances, however, the trees have whole or part having been blighted by frost."

AN APPEAL TO THE CHARITABLE.—A gentleman who is acquainted with the facts hands us the following with a request that we publish it: "An appeal to the citizens of Portland on behalf of William Atkins—who, be it remembered, lost his leg about three months ago by the falling of a tree upon him while in the act of felling it. He is now at the county hospital, under the treatment of Dr. Hawthorne. He feels confident that if the friends of humanity would undertake his case and raise a sum sufficient to procure an artificial or cork leg he could earn a suitable living either here or in California, as he does not wish to be a burden on the county. He is a young man, of good character and intelligence, of prepossessing appearance, and begs most respectfully to ask the indulgent consideration of the public." From what we can learn, the object of the above appeal is a worthy young man whom it would be both a private and public blessing to assist. We shall hope to see something done for him.

THE OREGON TRACT SOCIETY.—The Oregon Tract Society held its 20th anniversary meeting last week, in this city. According to the report of the Secretary and Treasurer the Society had distributed 7,000,000 pages of religious [illegible] within the past twenty years. The Executive Committee was instructed to take the necessary steps for the incorporation of the society. The next meeting will be held at Portland, on the 3d Wednesday of May, 1869. The following are the officers selected to serve the ensuing year: President, Rev E Walker; Secretary, Treasurer and Depositary, Rev G H Atkinson; Executive Committee, D. W. Williams, G. [illegible], R. Weeks, J. D. Holman, and J. L. Atkinson.

RESIGNATION AND ELECTION.—Mr. Stephen Coffin, having resigned the office of President of the Board of Directors of the Oregon Iron Works, at a meeting of the Board, held at the company's office on Monday, the 18th, Mr. W. K. Loveridge, of Salem, was elected President. The duties of the office will require a good share of Mr. Loveridge's time, and we learn that he will, in consequence, remove his residence to this city. He is an energetic and [illegible] man. The business of the company [illegible] which could never have been [illegible], the company was formed and which [illegible] the number of similar works in this city, [illegible], if started, outside of Oregon.

[illegible]—Yesterday morning, a personal difficulty occurred between Mr. S. J. McCormick and [illegible] Brown, Editor of the Herald, growing out of a [illegible] article published in the Herald of Sunday [illegible]. Mr. McCormick had [illegible] the publication [illegible] the Herald's [illegible] to publish it, [illegible] Mr. [illegible] punishment. He was cut short, however, in this exercise, by the interference of [illegible] and others. A complaint [illegible] against Mr. [illegible] for assault and battery, to which he pleaded [illegible] was fined $40 and costs.

THE WILLOW CREEK MINES.—Mr. Samuel Simmons, of [illegible], after an absence of near two months, mostly spent in the mines of Willow Creek and the neighborhood, [illegible] that evening. He reports that [illegible] there are remunerative diggings, nothing can be done this year for want of water, of which there is almost none. The miners have all left or are leaving [illegible] down the river or going back to Idaho, as the case may be. For the balance of the season, those mines will be totally deserted.

[illegible] FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The following is the list of [illegible] by the steamship Ajax, which sailed [illegible] for San Francisco: 4,744 sks wheat, [illegible] 115 sks middlings, 584 sks oats, 1,974 qr [illegible] gunnies bacon, 118 cases bacon, 65 hf bbls dried apples, 176 bxs eggs, 403 bxs apples, 15 dry hides, [illegible] wool, 1 case furs, 3 bales furs, 13 pkgs mdse, [illegible], 16 pkgs lard, 11 kegs butter, 38 pkgs [illegible] bbls, 1 coop chickens and 1 case circular [illegible].

[illegible] PROTECTIVE UNION.—The [illegible] of this city met at the City Council Chamber [illegible], adopted their Constitution and elected [illegible] Daniel Hayes President; Wm [illegible] Dr. Lt Danigan, Treasurer; Hon [illegible] Twenty-five names were enrolled on the list of members last evening. Regular [illegible] of the Union will be held every Monday evening [illegible].

[illegible] A few days since the E[illegible] mentioned a [illegible] piece lately found, dated 1775. [illegible] yesterday, by Mr. Whipple, a small coin of much more patriarchal age as compared with the E[illegible]'s old fellow. It bears the date 1727, and several [illegible], among which is "Carlos VI." The [illegible] which have been enacted since it came from the [illegible] would fill a respectable library.

[illegible].—Arrived, yesterday, per steamer [illegible], 1 bale woolen goods, 11 boxes eggs, 20 gunnies bacon, 131 sks oats, 11 bales flax, 3 boxes butter, 39 hf bbls [illegible], 3 gunnies hams, 120 qr sks flour, and 1 bale [illegible], 97 sks oats, 160 qr sks flour, 56 [illegible] boxes eggs, and 6 gunnies bacon. Per [illegible] the Bdar, 535 bags wheat, 23 cases [illegible], 1 hf bbl eggs, 2 sks bacon.

THE [illegible] TO-NIGHT.—Frank McCann's soiree at Oro Fino Hall to-night promises to be a very pleasant affair. Great care will be taken to make it agreeable to every one. A large number of [illegible] are expected from Oregon City [illegible] will make a special trip this evening [illegible] in time to prepare for the dance, and return [illegible] o'clock.

[illegible] EXCURSION.—The Fenian Guard has resolved [illegible] Target Excursion and Picnic on [illegible] the 25th inst., at Pine Grove, near Oswego. The [illegible] boat will leave the foot of Morrison street [illegible] at nine and half past ten A. M. and at 12 M. [illegible] number of prizes will be awarded.

BROKE DOWN.—The rock crusher, planted on the wharf [illegible] Taylor and Salmon streets, was badly broken [illegible] afternoon. One of the heaviest castings about the [illegible] in several places, an accident which [illegible] the Macadamized street improvement [illegible] several days.

[illegible].—A large sail boat, manned by two persons [illegible] the Taylor street wharf, yesterday morning, was struck by a violent "flaw" and capsized. The two [illegible] difficulty, the boat was subsequently [illegible], bailed out, and in the afternoon was out [illegible] as ever.

[illegible]. Yesterday, a number of boys were at [illegible] chopping down or climbing small trees [illegible] son of Mr. J. H. Stinson, had climbed to a [illegible] height in a small tree, when the boys on the [illegible] it down. The fall resulted in a broken arm [illegible].

[illegible] LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—Rev Father Buchard will deliver a lecture at the Catholic Church on the evening of [illegible], the 28th inst., for the benefit of the [illegible] Library Association. Subject—"Trials and triumphs of the church."

THEATRICALS.—We learn that a company has been organized and that the members are fitting up the Moun[illegible] Hall, for the purpose of giving a series of theatrical entertainments. The place will be opened next Saturday evening.

[illegible] TO PORTLAND.—Col Hodges, recently promoted to be Chief Quartermaster of this Military Department, has removed his household goods to this city and will shortly enter upon the duties of his new office.

MADE VACANT.—The office of Chief Engineer of the Fire Department of the city of Vancouver will be made vacant by the removal to Portland of Mr. Hodges, who comes here as chief clerk in the Quartermaster's office.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—On Monday a little daughter of Mr John P Walker, fell accidentally down a flight of cellar steps and received some serious injuries—a broken arm and severe bruises.

TREASURE SHIPMENT.—The steamship Ajax took away, Monday evening, $65,000 in treasure, of which Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped $50,000 and Ladd & Tilton, $15,000.

THE BARK RAINIER.—We learn that the bark Rainier, now at St. Helens has completed her cargo of lumber, and will sail at an early day, for San Francisco.

PERSONAL.—Judge Smith returned home Monday evening after a pretty extensive stumping tour of the Willamette country. We learn that he has been doing very effective service.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—It will be remembered that Mr. A B Richardson's auction sale of house and lots will take place this forenoon. For particulars, consult the advertisement.

LAST OF THE SEASON.—Received per steamer Ajax, a large and elegant invoice of Ladies Latest Styles Silk Cloaks, which are offered cheap from the San Francisco cost. Ladies should avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to purchase a fashionable cloak at very low figures. Also, a fine lot of Straw Goods on same terms. Call and see them at Mrs Levy's, No. 87 First street.

TO THOSE IN WANT OF PHOTOGRAPHS we would say that now is a most favorable time to visit Buchtel's Gallery, where the latest and finest styles may be had.—J H Montgomery, operator.

NOT GENERALLY KNOWN.—Martin Van Buren is the only man who held the offices of President, Vice President, Minister to England, Governor of his own State, and member of both Houses of Congress. Thomas H Benton is the only man who held a seat in the United States Senate for thirty consecutive years. The only instance of father and son in the United States Senate, at the same time, is that of Hon. Henry Dodge, Senator from Wisconsin and his son, Augustus C Dodge, Senator from Iowa. Gen. James Shields is the only man who ever represented two States in the United States Senate. At one time he was Senator from Illinois, and subsequently from Minnesota. John Quincy Adams held positions under the Government during every administration from that of Washington to that of Polk, during which he died. He had been Minister to England, member of both Houses of Congress, Secretary of State, and President of the United States. He died while a member of the House of Representatives.

By Dr. Richardson's Apparatus, Lately Improved by Dr. Koehler, with Ether Spray.

WILLIAM KOEHLER,

DENTIST.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—Southwest corner Front and Yamhill Streets, opposite E J. Northrup & Co's Hardware Store.

I am now making and insert numerous other styles of ARTIFICIAL TEETH the improved Vulcanite Plates of Dr G W Cool's Patent, patented Dec 3, 1867, the improvement of which consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold. It not only makes the plate double as strong and cleanlier than the common Vulcanite Plate. It also can by it be made considerably thinner and lighter, whereas the price is but little above that for common plates. Call and see specimens.

N. B.—Dentists wishing to secure the office right for Dr G W Cool's Improved Vulcanite Plates can have it made out to them by applying to this office.

N. B.—To strangers I would say that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last five years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be seen at the office.

A THRILLING INCIDENT

In the mission life of Mrs. Ingalls, in Burmah, is well told in the Baptist Messenger, relating how she was sent for to visit one of the highest high priests, who had been nearly killed, and how while in the most holy place in their temple where none but the priests had ever before been admitted she was permitted unrebuked to use for him the sacred vessels, which none but the high priest dare touch and to even overturn and sit on one of their gods to rest, all through the magic influence of the Pain Killer, called by them the "God medicine," so successfully had she used it in curing their many diseases some of them considered heretofore fatal in that climate, among which were cholera, liver complaint, dyspepsia, the bites of venomous reptiles, &c. This speaks volumes for the Pain Killer.—London Times

Rev J E Clough, Missionary at Ongole, Southern India, writes: "We cannot do without Pain Killer very highly for scorpion stings, cholera, &c., and cannot very well get along without it."

Rev I D Colburn, Missionary at Tavoy, Burmah, writes: "I should be happy to assist in extending a knowledge of a remedy so speedy and effectual." m1daw1m

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!

A Pure and Powerful Tonic,

Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water; Invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels, Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant, but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his products, the sale of which daily increases. The [illegible] edged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

A Remarkable Imposter.

[From "Travels in France and Germany in 1865 and 1866" by Captain Spencer.]

I had taken my place in the express night train from Paris to Marseilles, on my route from Algeria to Morocco. There was nothing remarkable in my fellow travelers, nor in their conversation, until we arrived at the third or fourth station, where we received an addition to our party in the person of a passenger, as remarkable for the neatness of his equipment as the perfectly gentlemanly style of his general appearance. Everything about him exhibited the taste of a man of the upper ten thousand, who had plenty of money at his command and was accustomed to the best society.

Up to the present time, as the conversation of my fellow-travelers had consisted of nothing more interesting to a stranger than the prospects of the harvest and the vintage, I half dozed in the corner of the carriage, quietly enjoying my cigar.

"Ah! Monsieur," exclaimed our new voyager, "what a splendid cigar that is you are smoking! I know it to be an Havana, by the aroma, the moment I entered the carriage. You cannot get such a thing now in France at any price unless you import them yourself, and then you must get a [illegible] to do so from the Government. Nevertheless, as fine as yours undoubtedly are, I think mine are equally good," said he, handing me at the same time his cigar case to help myself.

This led to a most animated conversation, and if I was struck by the distingue appearance of the stranger at first, half an hour's conversation showed me that he was a man of rare ability. Like myself, he was also a great traveler, had been all over Europe and a great part of Asia and Northern Africa, spoke several of the languages of Europe with great fluency, as well as a little Russian and Turkish; and while comparing notes, I found he was as well acquainted with the manners and customs of the various countries he had visited as myself—a very unusual thing in Frenchmen, who have nothing of the passion of the English for traveling, and rarely speak any foreign language sufficiently well to make themselves understood.

During the whole night we amused ourselves with details of our adventures, and anecdotes of the strange characters we had met with during our travels; took refreshments together at different buffets along the line, treated each other in the most friendly manner as if we had known each other for years. Nothing occurred to interrupt our harmony till I arrived at Marseilles, where having secured a place in the steamer bound for Algiers, we sat down to a comfortable breakfast at our hotel. I had, however, scarcely taken the first mouthful, when the waiter entered telling me there was a gentleman waiting to see me in the adjoining room. A glance was sufficient to tell me that the person who had sent for me was an agent of the police.

"Monsieur est Anglais?" said he, rather abruptly.

"Oui, Monsieur."

"I thought so. You have come direct from Paris, and you are now on your way to Algiers; you took some refreshment at Lyons and drank a bottle of old Chambertin with your compagnon du voyage of the railway carriage."

"[illegible] described," I replied.

"Did you ever meet with the gentleman before?"

"Never."

"Of course, then, you know nothing of his history or antecedents?"

"Absolutely nothing."

"No doubt you find him a very pleasant companion?"

"I never met with one more agreeable or gentlemanly."

"So much the worse for those he selects as his victims. Please look and see if you have lost anything."

"[illegible] my money all right in my pocket book, and there are my dispatches in the breast pocket of my coat."

"Marvelous!—most marvelous!" cried my informant. "You will no doubt be astonished when I tell you that you have made the acquaintance of one of the most accomplished chevaliers d'industrie at this moment in all Europe, who, notwithstanding the disreputable calling, is a nobleman, and related to some of the first families in France. We have nothing against him at present; for the very best reason, that he has only just completed his term of imprisonment; but he is such an accomplished actor, and his disguises are so numerous, and so true to nature, that even the Argus eyes of the most vigilant agent de police are deceived. Indeed it was only by the slightest chance I recognised him, and then I owe it entirely to the bottle of Burgundy he helped you to drink at Lyons; but so it is, and has ever been, in nine cases out of ten, the cleverest men in crime that I have had to do with, lose their wits when they take a glass too much." On saying this, he turned on his heel and most unceremoniously quitted the room. I was bewildered. I knew not what to think. Might it not be a case of mistaken identity?—some persons so much resemble each other. The more I thought, the more I considered the matter, the more I believed that I had arrived at the right conclusion. What, so perfect a gentleman as that to be a common pilferer?—a common pickpocket? Preposterous! I had lost nothing; on the contrary, he had plenty of money at command, and throughout the journey paid his share of whatever we had in common, as every other high spirited gentleman would [illegible] in the honorable character of my [illegible] the breakfast room and [illegible] in the off-hand manner of a man who disbelieves in toto what he is about to say:

"Do you know, monsieur, that I have just had a visit from an agent de police, who has told me that you are one of the [illegible] of the day? one of the most accomplished chevaliers d'industrie at this moment in Europe?"

"Monsieur! have you seen anything in my conduct during our short acquaintance to warrant such a [illegible]?" he answered, drawing himself up with all that indignation of manner and bearing that might be expected from a gentleman who felt [illegible] injured by an unjust suspicion.

"Nothing," I exclaimed; "on the contrary, in all my [illegible] I never met with a companion I liked so much; [illegible] one that was more [illegible], and all I [illegible] that I did not kick that fellow down stairs."

"[illegible], Monsieur. Appearances are all [illegible]; but, alas! every word the agent [illegible] is too true. I am a sorry dog, for having [illegible] I had, and afterwards what my friends [illegible], I have been compelled [illegible] or five years to live by my wits [illegible] all that time, I never forgot [illegible] men. My quarries, when I want [illegible] that prey upon the weakness of [illegible] your princes of the State and [illegible] rich [illegible], bankers and stock jobbers; but never yet have I taken a cent from a poor gentleman. My scouts at the Hôtel de Princes, where you were staying, put me on a false scent. I certainly did intend to do a little business on my own account, at your expense, when I took my place with you in the same carriage; and now you must be aware of the numberless opportunities I had of taking every farthing that you were possessed of, if I had been so inclined. But no; I very soon saw that you had no money to spare, and to despoil such as you, Monsieur, would be worse than sacrilege. Above all, you charmed me with your conversation and adventures; you made me happy; I was again a gentleman, and you treated me as one. It called to my remembrance the brighter period of my life—the time when I was free from crime—the spoiled child of a doting mother, who denied her darling nothing that wealth could purchase. And more, Monsieur, having told you something of my sad, eventful life, I am sure you will grant one favor: Please retire into the adjoining room, for just five minutes, while I pack up the few things I have, and be off."

On my return, instead of my traveling companion I found a commissionaire from the Messagerie Imperial Steam Packet office, who had been sent for my luggage, and to say that owing to a telegraphic message just received from Paris, the steamer would sail in less than a quarter of an hour. Having no time to lose I hurried on board, and when in the act of placing a piece of money in the hand of my conductor, a peculiar look and a deep drawn sigh told me at a glance whom I had before me, but so completely transformed in appearance as to defy the possibility of recognition. I had merely a moment to say, "Go on the stage—that is your true vocation. Do not forget this; there is my card; write and let me know if I can be of any service to you."

On all my travels, in my intercourse with my fellow creatures, whether civilized or semi-barbarian, I never met with one, however vicious, who had not something good in his nature, if you happened to strike the right chord. The high born, titled rogue, who up to this time had been celebrated only for crime, all at once vanished from the world, as if he never had been. In short, he adopted the counsel I had given him, changed his name, and is now one of the most popular actors of the day, as much respected for his virtues as he is admired for his talents by every man of his acquaintance.

Kratsalatt's wife discovered her old hen setting in the back yard, and "burst up her nest." Soon after the poor wife came in much excited and said; "My dear Kratsalatt, I took the eggs from Brownie, and she has gone and sat onto an old meat ax." "Let her set," said the bilious old fellow, "if she sets on an ax may be she'll hatchet!"

DR. LIVINGSTONE'S SAFETY—SIR RODERICK MURCHISON'S LETTER.

To the Editor of the London Times: I have just received a letter from Dr. Kirk, Zanzibar, dated February, in which he announces the arrival of the Arab messenger, Bunduki, so long expected, who has brought with him dispatches and letters from Dr. Livingstone himself. The following is a very brief extract of Dr. Kirk's long letter, which will be read before the Royal Geographical Society at their next meeting, on the 27th inst., before which time I trust the dispatches themselves will have reached England:

The information now received completely confirms the account of the route taken by Dr. Livingstone round the southern end of Lake Nyassa, which was brought home by the Livingstone Search Expedition. It appears that our great traveler proceeded northward at a long distance to the west of the lake, and in course of time arrived at Lobisa, formerly a thickly inhabited town, but now almost deserted. In these elevated lands, covered with humid forests and destitute of game, the party suffered much from hunger; but on approaching the southern extremity of Lake Tanganyika they reached Mituka, in the Wemba country, where there was abundance of cattle and food, and where they recovered their strength. It was here that Livingstone met with the trading caravans from Zanzibar, and delivered the letters to Bunduki, who has had them twelve months in his possession. Reliable information has also been received at Zanzibar, of the arrival of Livingstone at Ujiji, half way along the Lake Tanganyika, where it is satisfactory to know that provisions, stores and letters sent from England and Zanzibar, have long been waiting for him.

The clear and definite proofs obtained by the boat expedition to Lake Nyassa, under the command of Mr. Young, quite satisfied most of my countrymen that I had judged rightly in adopting the belief that the whole story of the murder of Dr. Livingstone was a falsehood. But since then many have doubted the possibility of my dear friend ever coming alive out of the heart of Africa.

With our present cheering information every one may now, however, enjoy with me the prospect of once more welcoming David Livingstone on his return to an admiring country.

I am your obedient servant,
RODERICK I. MURCHISON,
Royal Geographical Society, April 8, 1868.

In a few days the period will expire which Talleyrand in his will stipulated should elapse after his death before his memoirs were to be published. He died on the 17th of May, 1838, at his celebrated house, or rather palace, Rue St. Florentin, where he received Alexander of Russia. The world looks forward with impatience to the appearance of these volumes as furnishing the key to much that history as yet has failed to elucidate of the revolutionary movement in France. We hear that above one hundred portraits of celebrated revolutionists will be published with the memoirs, which will be edited either by the Academy of Moral and Political Science, or by the Academie de Belles Lettres.

Maximilian's bondholders in Paris recently held a meeting, at which it was stated that the total amount of their loan to his short lived empire, was $55,283,424 in gold. This they think the French Government ought to pay, as it set up and guaranteed the Empire in Mexico.

SOOTHING AND BRACING.—There is no preparation in existence which has such a soothing effect in cases of nervous excitement as

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Although the fame of this renowned invigorant rests mainly on its astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and intestinal disorders, it is equally efficacious in nervous complaints. Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and lightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any unpleasant reaction. Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

THESE WHEELS, UNEQUALLED AND UNRIVALLED in the United States or the world, have been fully tested on this coast, many being in use at this date, driving all kinds of machinery, Saw Mills, Flour Mills, Quartz Mills, Woolen Factories, &c., &c.

CAUTION.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby give notice that the so-called "Shipley's Pacific Turbine Water Wheel" is a direct infringement and copy of the "James Leffel's American Double Turbine Water Wheel," and its manufacture and use is hereby prohibited. Any person or persons making, using, constructing or vending said Water Wheels make themselves liable to heavy damages and penalties. Parties interested will take notice, for I shall prosecute such infringements to the utmost extent of the law.

That all may know I mean what I say, and am not playing "bluff," I give the following extract from a legal opinion on this subject from one of the most eminent Patent Attorneys in the United States:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17, 1868.

MR. A. MYERS—In accordance with your request we have examined the patents of Shipley on Water Wheels, and are clearly of the opinion that they both infringe the Leffel's patents. In both of Shipley's Wheels he uses the upper and lower tiers of buckets precisely as Leffel does, and in this he clearly infringes. The fact that Shipley has applied another series of buckets in addition to those used by Leffel does not relieve him from the consequences of infringement at all. He has no right to use those two tiers of buckets, whether alone or with a third, or any other number of tiers added. It is a clear infringement. Respectfully yours,
DODGE & MUNN.

I hereby give notice that I will prosecute every infringement on our Patents, whether it is the maker, user, buyer or seller. Every infringement, whether our claims are used in whole or in part, will be prosecuted.
A. MYERS.

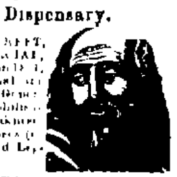
Medical.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, and bring their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania, and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are formerly shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

H. W. SHIPLEY & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS OF
SHIPLEY'S PATENT PACIFIC
TURBINE WATER WHEEL!

OF WHICH THE ABOVE IS AN ILLUSTRATION has FOUR SETS OF BUCKETS AND USES THREE FOURTHS OF THE WATER TWICE.

The old high priced, unequalled and unrivalled wheel has been PLAYED OUT by a fair working trial made by Mr. H. Kelly, at his saw mill, and the public can see what he says as to the capacity of the two wheels in the following testimonial over his own signature:

MR. H. W. SHIPLEY, Sir: In reply to your inquiry as to how I like your Pacific Turbine Wheel, I have to say that I have used one, over shot and three Leffel wheels—10, 17 and 15 inch diameter. When I substituted your 15 inch wheel for the 13 inch Leffell wheel, though unfinished, it worked the machinery like a top, using 12 ft. of water per minute more than the [illegible] inch Leffell. At your request I subsequently took your wheel out that it might be finished, and then I put in a 17 inch Leffell, but it gave no better power than yours while it used 52 cubic feet more water, per minute. After a month the [illegible] placed your wheel and am still using it, with the most satisfactory results. I have subjected it to some severe tests. For instance, while running the circular saw in a log which squared [illegible] inches, I edged the planer with a 2 inch knife, cutting from one eighth to one-fourth of an inch depth, without in the least slacking the speed. After thorough tests of both wheels, I am satisfied that your wheel with gates one eighth of an inch open gives as much power as the Leffell with gates one third open. At half gate your wheel gives double the power of the Leffel at half gate. At full gate the power of yours exceeds that of the Leffel, by from ten to twelve per cent. At quarter gate, the Leffel holds no comparison with yours at quarter gate.

N. B. Mr. Shipley was not present at either of the trials of his wheel; he being sick at the first, and absent from the State, at the second trial.

INSTITUTE.

 CONSULTATIONS, IN ALL CASES, FREE.

 CURES GUARANTEED, OR NO PAY REQUIRED.

 IN ALL CASES WHERE CONFIDENCE IS REQUIRED THE UTMOST SECRESY MAINTAINED.

The above rules, established by Dr. J. C. Young in 1850, and which have done so much to secure the reputation of the Institute, are still adhered to, affording those in need of medical aid, the certainty of cure and the utmost confidence.

There is nothing of so great importance to the sick as to know where to find a physician whose skill and honor give assurance of proper and delicate treatment. The Doctor would respectfully call the attention of those of both sexes who are suffering or in [illegible] to the invariable success that has marked the career of the Institute in the seventeen years of its existence.

It is unnecessary in this connection to enumerate all the complaints treated at the Institute, but the Doctor feels it his duty to call especial attention to that terrible scourge,

SEMINAL WEAKNESS,

That is sapping with its insidiousness the very life of its victims; in the treatment and cure of which the Institute has earned so enviable a reputation.

You may feel [illegible] you have ever practiced the vice of self-[illegible] SECRETLY INDULGE, you have the seeds of a [illegible] system, and their undermining [illegible] or later, dash the fair edifice of your strength [illegible] ground, leaving you a helpless, abject [illegible] disease that declares itself at once! The [illegible] est danger; for while the patient is being [illegible] affection of the Heart, Lungs, Brain, or [illegible] tions, he sinks into a general debility that [illegible] to the list of the victims of the terrible [illegible] Weakness.

See in the bent form and languishing [illegible] victim of the fascinating vice! Mark the [illegible] destructive complaint in the hollow cheek and [illegible]

Drowsiness is one of the premonitory sym[illegible] first it is easily shaken off, but it grows [illegible] great disinclination to pursue his regular [illegible] mind becomes apprehensive, and restless [illegible] days of depression.

It is the nature of the complaint to [illegible] changes that leave the poor victim but little [illegible] covery. In a single instant it may wither [illegible] hopes and blast your honest aspirations.

Marriage is sought by a natural impulse [illegible] lief. This man error of the first [illegible] tem, unprepared for the exigencies of the [illegible] lenly fails, and he finds himself in a [illegible] from which there is but the slightest hope of [illegible] Or if the marriage should result in [illegible] ny, distorted, decrepid, and degenerate. [illegible] ble to both sexes, whether married or single, throes of life.

Do not delay if you feel any of the sym[illegible] rible complaint, or if your acts have been [illegible] to them, but by instant application secure [illegible] only hope of health and happiness. The [illegible] mercury or other deleterious drugs [illegible] time, always guaranteed, and full and [illegible] stored.

The afflicted are assured of [illegible]

PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH VENEREAL.

During the seventeen years since the [illegible] the Institute, the number of cases of [illegible] been treated show a record unsurpassed by any [illegible] in the world, and the success that has [illegible] the course of treatment,

Without Mercury or other Deleterious Drugs,

Shows conclusively the use of them to be [illegible] called for, but actually dangerous, for it is a [illegible] established medical principle that [illegible] by entering the blood, ruin the con[illegible] life.

The Doctor effects a cure in fresh [illegible] and finds no difficulty in curing those of long [illegible] without submitting the patient to such [illegible] draw upon him the slightest suspicion, or [illegible] neglect his business, whether in-doors or [illegible] diet need not be changed. Cures always [illegible] no pay required.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with [illegible] requiring medical or surgical assistance, the [illegible] be: "Where is there a physician competent to [illegible] relief and whose respectable standing in society [illegible] commend him to the confidence of the [illegible] Doctor, understanding how imperatively [illegible] requirements are, feels called upon to [illegible] calling the attention of the afflicted to the fact [illegible] been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female D[illegible] [illegible] years, and is fully qualified to [illegible] both medically and surgically, not in a [illegible] but in such thorough a manner as years of study and [illegible]

In thin hospitals and private families—can [illegible] them from the hands of the unqualified, [illegible] designing. Therefore, families can rely upon [illegible] a father. All in affliction can find in him one who [illegible] and sympathize with and befriend them in [illegible] in whose secrecy the utmost confidence can be [illegible] consultation by letter or otherwise, [illegible] Constantly [illegible] in all weakness and trouble incidental to the [illegible] Private apartments are provided, when [illegible] be had all the advantages of unremitted att[illegible] Doctor and the most skillful and faithful [illegible]

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Persons, either male or [illegible] residing in the Interior, are often deterred from [illegible] the Doctor because they cannot spare the time, nor [illegible] the expense of a visit to the city. To such he would [illegible] that a plain statement of the symptoms and [illegible] bearing upon the complaint will enable him to [illegible] for them so that they can be cured at [illegible] have any false delicacy about writing, no matter what the nature of their complaint, as the communication will be seen by no one except the Doctor, and will be treated with the utmost confidence, and either be returned or destroyed.
